Introduction

Developed jointly by One Voice Wales, the Society of Local Council Clerks (SLCC) and Welsh Government, with commentary from Audit Wales, this toolkit aims to support community and town councils in Wales to:

- review the financial management, governance and accountability arrangements they have in place; and
- consider how effective these arrangements are, and how they might be improved.

Community and town councils are an integral part of local government; democratically elected and working at the most local level to improve their communities.

Community and town councils are also responsible, and accountable, for the conduct of public business and for spending public money. By law, councils need to ensure they safeguard, properly account for, and use the public money they have been entrusted with economically, efficiently and effectively.

All councils are expected to have high standards of stewardship – this begins with compliance with legal requirements, but over and above this it is about achieving the best outcomes for the people and communities you serve.

Self-assessment is a way of critically, and honestly, reviewing the current position to make decisions on how to secure improvement for the future. Using this toolkit will help ensure your council has the capability and capacity to properly serve your community, enabling you to identify and act on opportunities to improve the way your council works, and ensure you deliver the best outcomes for your communities.

This is not an audit tool, but it will help you assess whether your council is meeting certain statutory requirements that external auditors and the public would expect to see. It is about providing assurance that the council is operating effectively. It can be used to support your internal controls and can help identify ways your council can continuously improve and positively impact on your community.

This toolkit has been endorsed by One Voice Wales and SLCC who would strongly encourage councils to use it. While you are not required to formally report the findings of your self-assessment, you may wish to publish a summary of the findings, and the actions you intend to take in response, on your website and / or in your annual report. Doing so would represent a commitment to being open and transparent with the communities you serve.

How to use the toolkit

The toolkit is made up of two parts:-

- Part 1: The health check

The health check is designed to be completed by the clerk, working with the chair or a small group of members as appropriate, to assess whether fundamental governance and financial management arrangements, policies etc are in place, highlight any action that needs to be taken, and report back to full council or a designated committee.

- Part 2: The self-assessment

The self-assessment will enable councillors to use the findings from Part 1, and other forms of evidence available, to reflect more deeply on how the council is operating, managing its finances and governing itself. The questions will support consideration of what arrangements the council has in place, and importantly how the council is working for and with the local community to achieve the greatest impact on the well-being of its area. This element of the toolkit also contains details of a range of resources that can be drawn upon to inform action planning to respond to the findings of both the health check and self-assessment.

Both components of the toolkit cover five key areas of community and town council activity:-

- Vision, purpose and community planning
- Leadership and people
- Community engagement and partnerships
- Business processes
- Resources and financial management

Part 2, the self-assessment, also has an additional theme called evaluating impact, which will enable the council to reflect on the benefit it brings to the community to inform its future work.

How you and your council use the toolkit is up to you. You can complete the whole toolkit in a single exercise on an annual cycle, or you may wish to spread this out over weeks and months – although it is encouraged that you keep any work current and relevant.

The toolkit is designed to be used flexibly, enabling your council to decide where to focus its attention. For example, the council may choose to complete the entire health check first and use that to inform the consideration of the more in-depth self-assessment; or the council could decide to look at a specific theme in both the health check and the self-assessment in parallel before moving on to the next theme.

Councils are encouraged to approach completing the toolkit honestly and objectively. Doing so will help you understand areas which are working well and areas where improvements are needed.

Taking action following completion of the toolkit

Through the health check and self-assessment parts of the toolkit, the council will identify areas for action to strengthen its governance and financial management arrangements. Completing the toolkit should be considered the start of the process, not an end in itself. The conclusions from the health check and self-assessment should inform a plan for action to be taken and the council should be proactive in implementing this.

There are places for the council to record proposed key actions in the toolkit itself, as well as many helpful resources which can assist in taking action on the findings from the health check and the self-assessment.

The council should keep their findings under review and repeat periodically. The council may wish to include as a standard agenda item for the annual meeting or the meeting in June held to approve the annual governance statement, or perhaps include on its project plan for the year ahead.

The conclusions reached following the completion of the toolkit will also inform other aspects of the council's work. For example:-

Annual reports

Completing this toolkit will support preparation of the council's annual report as required by section 52 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021. Annual reports set out the council's priorities, activities and achievements during the year, and the toolkit will naturally assist the council in reviewing these points, as well as thinking ahead to future priorities.

Training plans

Community and town councils have a duty under section 67 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 to consider training for councillors and community council staff from 5 May 2022, publish their first council training plans by 5 November 2022 and make a new training plan no later than three months after each subsequent ordinary local government election. It is not the intention to ensure that each and every councillor necessarily receives training on the same subjects but to seek to bring about a situation where the councillors as a group, and the staff collectively, possess the knowledge, skills and awareness they need to operate effectively. Completing this toolkit will support the council in considering what training should be prioritised to ensure it has effective governance and financial management in place.

Annual Governance Statement

Completing the toolkit will be helpful to the council in completing its annual governance statement and return for submission to the Auditor General for Wales.

General power of competence

Part 2 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 makes provision for eligible community and town councils to exercise a general power of competence, with the aim of bringing about more effective, capable and innovative local government. The general power will allow eligible councils to act in their communities' best interests, generate efficiencies and secure value for money outcomes. They will also be able to raise money by charging for discretionary services and to trade.

The conditions which community councils must meet to be able to resolve themselves an 'eligible community council' are:

- at least two-thirds of the total number of members of the council have been declared to be elected whether at an ordinary election or at a by-election;
- the clerk to the council holds such qualification or description of qualification as may be specified by the Welsh Ministers by regulations; and
- the council satisfies the audit condition.

Part 1: The health check

Introduction and how to use

This health check is designed to be completed by the clerk, working with the chair or a small group of members as appropriate, to assess whether fundamental governance and financial management arrangements, policies etc are in place, highlight any action that needs to be taken, and report back to full council or a designated committee.

The health check is split into five key themes:

- Vision, purpose and community planning
- Leadership and people
- Community engagement and partnerships
- Business processes
- Resources and financial management

Each theme has a series of statements which require only a yes or no answer to indicate whether the council has that arrangement in place.

Where relevant, some further information has been included next to the statement. Click on any underlined text in the further information column to access additional resources.

Where a statement reflects a statutory obligation, the statement is shaded blue for ease of reference.

The final column in the health check should be used to note the assessment of the council's position in relation to the statement, along with details of any action required and how quickly the action would need to be implemented.

There is space at the end of each theme to summarise actions for that theme, and space at the end of the health check to summarise the key actions to be taken as a result of Part 1 - The health check in one place.

Theme A – Vision, purpose and community planning

A community and town council provides community leadership. In exercising this role it will benefit from having a clear vision for its community, developed in partnership / consultation with all sections of the community. This will inform council plans, budgets and activities to ensure the council best works with and in the interests of the community.

Theme B – Leadership and people

The council should respect the values of openness and transparency and adhere to, and model, the behaviours and standards set for all councillors as contained in the code of conduct. In leading its community, the council should be committed to enhancing its capability and capacity as is commensurate with its range and scale of operations.

Employees are the principal asset of any council and it is important that they are given the trust and respect to perform their roles to their maximum ability within a safe working environment. Training and development of employees is vitally important as well as having appropriate systems in place to provide adequate reward, recognition and accountability within a framework of effective employment policies.

Theme C – Community engagement and partnerships

Community and town councils play an active role in engaging, involving and consulting with their communities. An effective council understands its community's (people and places) needs and desires, and knows the positive difference it is making. Councils should aim to ensure that no one feels disadvantaged, and that all groups within the community are engaged.

A partnership is an agreement to do something together that will benefit all involved, bringing results that could not be achieved by a single partner operating alone and reducing duplication of efforts. Partnership working allows services to be delivered in a joined-up way, such as through shared goals and/or sharing resources.

Theme D – Business processes

A process is a series of actions or steps taken to achieve a particular end. A well-run and well-managed council will have clearly defined processes in place for key areas of business. These processes give an overall structure for decision-making designed to:

- ensure compliance with legislative requirements;
- deliver consistent outcomes or results; and
- mitigate against risk by ensuring tasks are performed correctly.

Business processes are likely to be key indicators of the strength of financial management and governance arrangements of a community or town council. The following will support your council to reflect on areas where typically a council has established processes in place, and help you determine if you need to introduce new or different processes.

Theme E – Resources and financial management

Community and town councils are entrusted with management of public funds and assets. All councils should have appropriate financial governance arrangements in place to ensure the security of these resources and to ensure that they achieve economy, efficiency and effectiveness in the use of those resources.

This theme considers the arrangements the council has put in place to manage its resources and covers both assets held and the council's finances. The questions here will provide confidence that the statutory and non-statutory procedures for good financial management are in place, or highlight areas where the council needs to make improvements.

E.1 The council has a formally appointed responsible financial officer		Local Government Act 1972 section 151 requires the council to make arrangements for the proper administration of its financial affairs and to secure that one of its officers, the responsible finance officer, has responsibility for administration of those affairs. See chapter 4 of Governance and Accountability for Local Councils in Wales – A Practitioners Guide for further guidance.

E.5 There are documented arrangements for transfer of documents on change of responsible financial officer		Councils must ensure that all accounting records including contracts, payroll records, invoices etc are held securely and proper arrangements are in place for the transfer of records on changes in the clerk/responsible financial officer. This is particularly important where the council does not have its own office. The council's copy of the clerk's employment contract should not be retained by the clerk where the council does not have its own office.
E.6 The council has and monitors a record of its earmarked reserves and balances and ensures that precept is not raised unnecessarily		See Governance and Accountability for Local Councils in Wales – A practitioners guide (2019 Edition) chapter 22 for guidance
E.7 There is an agreed timetable for the preparation and approval of the Annual Return/statement of accounts		Preparing and agreeing a timetable for the preparation and approval of the annual return will enable the council to meet the statutory approval date of 30 June each year. Documenting these arrangements also assists in handover of responsibilities between outgoing and incoming responsible financial officers.

E.31 There is a documented policy and procedure for the award of grants		Adoption of a policy and specified procedure for the award of grants will help councils to decide between competing requests for support. Councils can set key criteria for eligibility, limits on the assistance that may be awarded and specify evidence required to support applications for funds. It also provides a clear trail from the application to the award of grant.
E.32 The council calculates annually the maximum sum it is allowed to spend under the section 137 power		The amount councils are permitted to spend is limited to a multiple of registered electors as at January immediately before the start of the financial year. Part 2: The self-assessment

Introduction and how to use

The self-assessment is the councillor-led part of the toolkit. The self-assessment consists of six themes, the first five of which are the same as the themes contained in Part 1 – The health check:-

- Vision, purpose and community planning
- Leadership and people
- Community engagement and partnerships
- Business processes
- Resources and financial management
- Evaluating impact

Each theme contains one or more overarching governance statements that reflect the characteristics of effective governance of a community or town council. The council should consider how it is operating in relation to each of the statements, and is supported to reach conclusions by a series of probing questions and examples of evidence that it may wish to consider.

Each overarching statement is followed by:-

- Questions to consider - these will help you and your council understand and reflect on how the council is operating and where there is a need or opportunity to strengthen this area of your work.
- Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment - this contains suggestions of things that are likely to already be available to the council, and which may be helpful to you in reaching conclusions on how the council is operating in relation to the overarching statement. These are suggestions only and you should consider reviewing any evidence that you think will help inform your assessment. The completed Part 1 – The health check will also be a key piece of evidence to review as you think through the self-assessment questions.
- Further information – this section explains a little more about councils' responsibilities in relation to the theme / overarching statement, and contains sources of additional guidance, support and training to help bring about change or improvements to your working arrangements and processes. Click on any underlined text in the further information column to access additional resources.
- Commentary – this is space for your council to summarise its conclusions in relation to the overarching statement and questions.

- Actions – this is space for your council to record the actions it will take as a result of the assessment in relation to each overarching statement.

We suggest that the following steps are taken when using this part of the toolkit:-

- 1) Councillors review the self-assessment and form their own views on how the council is operating in relation to each of the themes and statements.
- 2) Councillors meet as a task and finish group or working group to compare their thoughts and arrive at an agreed view which can be summarised in the commentary box provided under each statement.
- 3) Based on the conclusions reached in the commentary box, record actions that the council proposes to take to develop, or further develop, in that area.
- 4) The summary of findings and proposed action may then be discussed and agreed in a full council meeting.

Your council may decide to complete all of the health check first and then all of the self-assessment, or you may choose to complete a theme in both the health check and the self-assessment in parallel before moving on to the next theme.

There is space at the end of the self-assessment to summarise the key actions to be taken as a result of Part 2 – The self-assessment in one place.

Theme A – Vision, purpose and community planning

A community and town council provides community leadership. In exercising this role it will benefit from having a clear vision for its community, developed in partnership / consultation with all sections of the community. This will inform council plans, budgets and activities to ensure the council best works with and in the interests of the community.

The council has a clear vision and plan for its community

Questions to consider

- Does the council have a plan for realising its vision and purpose?
- How are you involving the whole community in developing that plan?
- How does the council plan take account of its statutory obligations and functions?
- How does the council keep its plan under regular review?
- How does the council apply its vision when considering planning matters relating to the community?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Documented vision, purpose and values statements
- Community planning tools
- Public consultation events and surveys
- Press releases and articles
- Statutory reports as appropriate for example:
 - Annual report on progress in meeting objectives contained in the local well-being plan
 - Published biodiversity plan and report
 - Annual report as required by Local Government and Elections (Wales) Act 2021

Further information

Regardless of its size, having a vision and purpose agreed by all members will help your council in achieving for its community. An agreed vision and purpose will provide a clear focus for decision-making on how to utilise the budget and resources available to deliver the outcomes that the people in the community want to see.

Involving the community in developing vision and purpose statements and the business plan ensures that the council can identify and act on the wants and needs of the community it has been elected to serve.

The council's business plan should reflect the agreed vision and purpose, provide an overall framework to focus the council's actions, and create the budget that determines the precept.

The values of the council will guide all aspects of its work and activities in terms of principle and practice. Councils can research the values adopted by other councils, normally displayed on their websites, and One Voice Wales can also supply examples to member councils to assist them in developing their own.

In considering what services to deliver, or what activities to support, councils should also take account of the assessment of local well-being for their area and the objectives contained within the local well-being plan. While only some community and town councils will be under a duty to take reasonable steps towards meeting those objectives, all councils have an important role to play in improving the well-being of their area and in doing so contribute towards improving the social, economic, environmental and cultural well-being of Wales. Councils may find it helpful to use the five ways of working set out in the Well-being of Future Generations Act to guide their planning and decision making – long term, prevention, integration, collaboration and involvement. More detail on the ways of working can be found in Well-being of Future Generations \(Wales\) Act 2015: the essentials

The council should keep its plan under regular review to ensure it remains up-to-date and relevant.

Relevant statutory obligations

Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021, Section 52 – From April 2022 community and town councils have a duty to prepare and publish an annual report, as soon as reasonably practicable after the end of each financial year, about the council's priorities, activities and achievements. Councils must have regard to guidance about annual reports issued by Welsh Ministers. See Part 3,

Chapter 5 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021.

Well-being of Future Generations \(Wales\) Act 2015 - The Act places a duty on certain community and town councils to take all reasonable steps towards meeting the local objectives included in the local well-being plan that has effect in their areas. A community or town council is subject to that duty only if its gross income or expenditure was at least £200,000 for each of the three financial years preceding the year in which the local well-being plan is published. If a community or town council is subject to the duty, it must publish a report annually detailing its progress in meeting the objectives contained in the local well-being plan. Community or town councils which do not meet the criteria for being subject to the duty in section 40(1) of the Act but which still wish to contribute towards meeting the local objectives in the local well-being plan are welcome to do so on a voluntary basis.

Environment \(Wales\) Act 2016, Section 6. - Councils have a duty to maintain and enhance biodiversity in the exercise of its functions and must prepare and publish a plan setting out what it proposes to do and report on the actions taken to improve biodiversity and promote ecosystem resilience every three years. See also: Environment \(Wales\) Act 2016 Factsheet: Biodiversity and Resilience of Ecosystems Duty; Environment \(Wales\) Act 2016 Part 1: Guidance for Section 6 – the Biodiversity and Resilience of Ecosystems Duty Frequently Asked Questions; The Section 6 Biodiversity and Resilience of Ecosystems Duty: reporting template and The Section 6 Biodiversity and Resilience of Ecosystems Duty: example reporting template.

Community councils are able to decide whether to prepare one composite annual report covering the reporting duties in the Local Government and Elections (Wales) Act 2021, the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 and the Environment (Wales) Act 2016, or to produce three individual reports.

Theme B – Leadership and people

The council should respect the values of openness and transparency and adhere to, and model, the behaviours and standards set for all councillors as contained in the code of conduct. In leading its community, the council should be committed to enhancing its capability and capacity as is commensurate with its range and scale of operations.

Employees are the principal asset of any council and it is important that they are given the trust and respect to perform their roles to their maximum ability within a safe working environment. Training and development of employees is vitally important as well as having appropriate systems in place to provide adequate reward, recognition, and accountability, within a framework of effective employment policies.

The council provides leadership to its members and staff

Questions to consider

- Do all councillors understand their obligations to ensure effective governance of the council?
- How do you ensure all members are trained in all aspects of their role?
- How do you ensure all members are suitably resourced to carry out their role?
- How do members and staff engage with recognised sector representative bodies (i.e. One Voice Wales and SLCC) to share and learn from good practice?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Vision, purpose and values statements
- Declaration of acceptance of office
- Standing orders
- Code of conduct
- Arrangements for discharge of functions
- Records of attendance at council meetings
- Evidence of councillor training needs analysis and training undertaken

- Training plan
- Membership of One Voice Wales and the Society of Local Council Clerks

Responsibilities for effective governance

A formal declaration of acceptance of office must be signed before an individual is able to act as a member of a community or town council. This includes an undertaking to observe the code of conduct adopted by the council. All councillors should adhere to and model appropriate behaviours and standards in line with expectations of those taking up elected office.

Councillor training

A good community council is committed to ongoing training and development, for both councillors and staff. A National Training Strategy is currently under review.

Section 67 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 requires community and town councils to make and publish a plan about the training provision for its members and staff. The training plan should reflect on, and address whether the council collectively has the skills and knowledge it needs to deliver its plans most effectively. The first training plan must be published by 5 November 2022, six months after the duty comes into force. The training plan must be reviewed no later than three months after an ordinary election of community councillors. Statutory guidance has been published about the duty to make and publish training plans see Chapter 5 of The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021: Statutory Guidance for Community and Town Councils

Information on any current bursaries for councillors to undertake relevant training may be found on the One Voice Wales website.

Councillor remuneration

The Independent Remuneration Panel for Wales is the independent body responsible for determining payments to elected members of community and town councils in Wales. The Panel produces a report every year setting out the type and level of payments that may be made. It is the duty of the proper officer of a council (usually the clerk) to arrange for correct payments to be made to all individuals entitled to receive them.

The Independent Remuneration Panel for Wales Annual report and guidance on payments to elected members

Sector bodies

Councils are encouraged to be in membership of One Voice Wales and the Society of Local Council Clerks. Contact One Voice Wales and SLCC for details. One Voice Wales Area Committees and One Voice Wales and SLCC conferences and training events provide opportunities to learn about developments in other councils as well as share their own good practice. Consideration could also be given to submitting applications for the One Voice Wales annual awards scheme. In the case of 'larger' councils, they should consider taking a full part in the Larger Councils' meetings.

Questions to consider

- Do all councillors understand their responsibilities as an employer?
- Does the council have a human resources/personnel committee to deal with staffing matters?
- Do all staff understand their obligations under the national employee code of conduct?
- How does the council review whether staff are remunerated appropriately?
- How does the council ensure open and fair competition for all vacancies?
- What arrangements are in place to enable employees to communicate with their line management and for appraisal?
- What processes are in place to resolve both internal disputes / grievances and potential external complaints about council members and staff?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Evidence of applying current employment law
- Evidence of signed contracts and policies which are referenced in contracts of employment and which are fully aligned to the National Pay and Conditions Agreement for Clerks
- Pay policy
- Job descriptions
- Employee Handbook
- Appraisal scheme and evidence of appraisals completed
- Minutes of full council and HR committee meetings
- Financial records recording appropriate deductions from gross pay calculations
- Grievance and complaints procedure

Further information

The council must act at all times as a responsible employer and must ensure it complies with employment law. All staff must have a contract of employment incorporating terms and conditions and supported by appropriate employment policies.

The council must approve the remuneration payable to all staff in advance. Councils should consider using an effective benchmarking tool for determining salaries of their employees, ensuring appropriate hours are agreed for each role. In the case of clerks/deputies and assistants the national job evaluation and pay scales would be appropriate.

When councils with several employees wish to change job roles and staffing structures they should be mindful of the processes involved in varying contracts.

It is essential that effective line management arrangements are in place for all employees. In the case of smaller councils, perhaps with a single part-time clerk, consideration should be given to arrangements for the day-to-day routine management of the clerk and a reporting mechanism to the council via a human resources / personnel committee.

It is important that members and officers are trained in the use of employee appraisal and there is a suitable scheme in place which is understood by the council and employees.

The code of conduct for qualifying employees of relevant authorities in Wales sets out the conduct expected of employees of a community council. This sets out as a general principle that the public is entitled to expect the highest standards of conduct from employees of a community and town council and notes that in performing their duties they must act with integrity, honesty, impartiality and objectivity. The code of conduct also covers:-

- Accountability
- Political neutrality
- Relations with members, the public and other employees
- Equality
- Stewardship
- Personal interest
- Whistleblowing
- Treatment of information
- Appointment of staff

- Investigations by monitoring officers

Questions to consider

- How does the council encourage continuous professional development of its employees?
- How does the council ensure all staff are trained in all aspects of their role?
- How does the council ensure it provides all necessary facilities and equipment for those working from the office or at home?
- Are there appropriate policies and processes in place to manage the health, safety and welfare of the council's employees? How do you ensure these are followed?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Dignity at work policy
- Member/officer working protocol
- Equality and diversity policy
- Risk assessments
- Evidence of a process of establishing and reviewing individual development plans for all staff
- Investment in line management training for clerks who manage other council staff

Further information

A successful council supports the development of its employees. Section 67 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 requires community and town councils to make and publish a plan about the training provision for its members and staff. The training plan should reflect on, and address whether the council collectively has the skills and knowledge it needs to deliver its plans most effectively. The first training plan must be published by 5 November 2022, six months after the duty comes into force. The training plan must be reviewed no later than three months after an ordinary election of community councillors. Statutory guidance has been published about the duty to make and publish training plans - See Chapter 5 of The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021: Statutory Guidance for Community and Town Councils

Many of the training requirements for council staff can be sourced from the SLCC - including the CiLCA qualification. Councils are encouraged to provide the necessary funding, including paid time off, for courses and in the case of qualification routes to provide appropriate workload relief to support studies. Further information on courses and any bursary support available can be found on the SLCC website.

Providing staff of the council with the appropriate resources to complete their work is a key consideration in ensuring the successful operation of the council. For example, staff should be provided with council email addresses and access to council computer systems rather than being expected to use their own. Council staff should not use personal email addresses for council communications or save council documents to personal computers for reasons of information security, as well as for ensuring effective continuity if the council employee should leave their role.

Theme C – Community engagement and partnerships

Community and town councils play an active role in engaging, involving and consulting with their communities. An effective council understands its community's (people and places) needs and desires, and knows the positive difference it is making. Councils should aim to ensure that no one feels disadvantaged, and that all groups within the community are engaged.

A partnership is an agreement to do something together that will benefit all involved, bringing results that could not be achieved by a single partner operating alone and reducing duplication of efforts. Partnership working allows services to be delivered in a joined-up way, such as through shared goals and/or sharing resources.

The council engages with its community

Questions to consider

- Does your council understand the demographic composition of its community?
- How does the council involve the whole community in its decision-making processes, and provision of services?
- How does the council stay in touch about local “hot topics” that emerge from time to time?
- How does your council plan and provide for the diversity of needs within its community?
- What methods and tools are used by the council, to involve the community in community planning issues?
- How does the council ensure it is reflecting the voice of the community in reviewing planning applications and contributing, where appropriate to the Local Development Plan?
- What does the council do to ensure it engages with the people in the community in the language of their choice?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Community engagement strategy prepared and periodically reviewed
- Community surveys
- Proactive work with community groups
- Involvement in other aspects of community life e.g. school governors, citizens advice etc.
- Social media activity

Theme C – Community engagement and partnerships

- Minutes of meetings
- Annual report
- Website
- Newsletters
- Noticeboards
- Community events
- Employment of a community development officer (where appropriate)
- Youth representatives serving on the council

Further information

The council is elected to serve all parts of the community and must ensure it reflects the needs of all the people in its community. Being open and transparent about the work of the council, and its decision-making, is key to engaging the community. A community engagement strategy sets out how the council will understand its community, involve the community in their work and communicate with their electors.

Relevant statutory obligations

Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 – Part 3 Promoting Access to Local Government

The intention of the public participation provisions in the Local Government and Elections (Wales) Act 2021 is to encourage a more diverse range of members of the public to engage with local democracy. Principal councils are required to prepare, consult on, publish and review a ‘public participation strategy’, with the aim of making it easier for members of the public to understand how local government functions; how it makes decisions; and how local people can follow proceedings, input their views, and have them taken into account. There is no requirement for a community council to make a public participation strategy, though they should consider how they enable public participation to take place.

From 5 May 2022 people presiding over community and town council meetings that are open to the public must give members of the public in attendance reasonable opportunity to make representation about any business being discussed at the meeting, unless this is likely to prejudice the effective conduct of the meeting.

Section 47 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 provides for multi-location attendance at community and town council meetings. The requirement is that a community council must make and publish arrangements for convening meetings, which allows – but not requires – participants to be in multiple locations. See Chapter 2 of The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021: Statutory Guidance for Community and Town Councils

Schedule 4 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 also includes provisions relating to community council notices e.g. giving notice of meetings and their arrangements and the issuing of a short note within 7 days of council meetings. These should be read in conjunction with section 55 of the Local Government (Democracy) (Wales) Act 2013, which requires community councils to make available electronically certain information and documents (including minutes of meetings).

The council works with partners to help its community

Questions to consider

- How does the council work with partners to help achieve its vision and purpose?
- How does the council assess who it could and should work with (including statutory partners)?
- Are you working with everyone you could / should be working with?
- How has the council ensured it is resourced to develop its partnerships?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Proactive work with community groups
- Involvement in other aspects of community life e.g. school governors, citizens advice etc.
- Annual report
- Community events
- Work with public services board (especially those councils with a duty under the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015)
- Lead subject representatives appointed
- Expertise to serve on advisory committees (co-option of non-councillors)
- Charter agreement with the principal authority

Further information

Community and town councils can provide services with other bodies, including neighbouring community councils. Partnership working recognises the limitations of what we can do on our own and the opportunities for achieving more by working together.

A stakeholder analysis is a simple way of identifying who might have most interest and influence in delivering the council's vision and plan.

Theme C – Community engagement and partnerships

This can be a helpful tool in identifying and prioritising potential partners. A by-product of this work is that it might identify opportunities to take forward ambitions that might otherwise have been missed. Having completed a stakeholder analysis, the council will need to consider who it seeks to work with and whether it is suitably resourced to take work forward.

If the council takes the lead in setting up a partnership, it should represent community interest groups and minority interests through either membership or consultation.

Working with the principal council

Building effective relationships between community councils and the principal council for the area can support councils to deliver for the people they serve. Informal and / or formal mechanisms may be established for engagement and partnership working.

A charter agreement is entered into by a principal council and a community council for a community or communities within its area. It is a shared agreement describing the way in which the councils' respective functions will be exercised for the purpose of maintaining and improving co-operation between them.

The Welsh Government strongly encourages all councils to enter into formal charter agreements to underpin the relationship with the county or county borough council for the area. Working together through effective relationships and networks can support both tiers to ensure they are delivering the right outcomes for the people they serve. A charter provides clarity of commitments from both parties and gives validity and recognition to both parties as equal partners.

Questions to consider

- Are you confident that your communications are accessible to all parts of the community?
- How do you encourage feedback and involvement from across the community?
- How does your website help you engage and communicate?
- How do you use social media to engage with your community?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Appointing council representatives to serve on outside bodies
- Social media activity
- Minutes of meetings
- Annual report

- Newsletters
- Noticeboards

Further information

The Local Government \(Democracy\) \(Wales\) Act 2013 requires that community and town councils publish certain information electronically. Section 55 of the Act requires councils to publish electronically information about how to contact it and, if different, its clerk. The information which must be available electronically includes a telephone number, a postal address and an email address. In addition, councils must publish electronically information about its members, including a list of the council's members, each member's name, information about how they may be contacted, party affiliation (if any) and any office held or committee they belong to within the council. If the community concerned is divided into community wards, the ward each member represents must be shown. Councils must also publish electronically the minutes of its meetings and, so far as reasonably practicable, documents referred to at those meetings. They must also publish their annual audited accounts electronically.

It is a decision for each council to take as to whether they will operate their own, independent website, or whether they decide to link up with other councils in their area, or the principal council, or some other body which is happy to host their information. It is, however, a requirement that there is a regularly updated website providing the public with the ability to access the information described above.

A website is such a key means of communicating that people who want to find out about your council will simply assume you have one. A website offers the opportunity to promote, test and share ideas for the future of the community.

Social media is fast and free to use as well as a great way of getting your messages to more people in your community. Social media can help increase accessibility and can help break down barriers for people who might otherwise find it difficult to participate in your council's activities.

Different communication methods will be needed to ensure the council effectively engages with and informs the whole community. Considering how you are communicating, the audience for the different methods of communication, and where there are any gaps, will ensure you are reaching a full range of people within your community.

Theme D – Business processes

A process is a series of actions or steps taken to achieve a particular end. A well-run and well-managed council will have clearly defined processes in place for key areas of business. These processes give an overall structure for decision making designed to:

- ensure compliance with legislative requirements;
- deliver consistent outcomes or results; and
- mitigate against risk by ensuring tasks are performed correctly.

Business processes are likely to be key indicators of the strength of financial management and governance arrangements of a community or town council. The following questions will support your council to reflect on areas where typically a council has established processes in place, and help you determine if you need to introduce new or different processes.

The council operates high standards of accountability and governance in an open and transparent way

Questions to consider

- What processes are in place to ensure effective and timely decision making and are these processes documented?
- How does the council's annual business / service plan inform its budget?
- How does the council use committee and sub-committee decision-making arrangements?
- What processes are in place to review risk management?
- What handover provisions are in place for transfer of information, finances and records when the clerk/responsible financial officer leaves the council?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Standing orders
- All processes reviewed periodically by council / committee to ensure they remain appropriate, with findings recorded
- Internal controls documentation
- Published timetable of council and committee meetings

Theme D – Business processes

- Minutes of council meetings record decisions on the need for committees / sub committees and are published in a timely manner
- Usage of standing orders; financial regulations; and risk register
- Terms of reference for committee / sub-committee framework
- Scheme of delegations to support decision making
- Risk register
- Evidence of an easily accessible local complaints process for members of the public, and reference to the role of the Public Services Ombudsman for Wales in investigating complaints about public services.

Further information

All community and town councils must conduct their business in an open and transparent way and comply with statutory requirements in relation to decision making.

The council must conduct its business and make decisions through meetings, either of the full council or committees. There are rules governing meetings set out in the Local Government Act 1972, in particular Schedule 12.

Councils are legally required to keep minutes of meetings held and these minutes must be available to the public for inspection. Council meetings must be open to the public and press. They can only be excluded by a council resolution for a particular agenda item where sensitive issues are to be discussed (such as legal, contractual or personnel matters).

Rules for the annual meeting of the council and all other meetings should be contained in the council's standing orders.

The Local Government \(Democracy\) \(Wales\) Act 2013 requires that community and town councils publish certain information electronically. Section 55 of the Act requires councils to publish electronically information about how to contact it and, if different, its clerk; information about each of its members; the minutes of its meetings and, so far as reasonably practicable, documents referred to at those meetings; and their annual audited accounts.

The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 – section 47 makes it easier for meetings to take place through a variety of arrangements, including multi-location meetings where all individuals are attending virtually, and hybrid meetings where a number of individuals are attending in person at a designated location and others are attending virtually from a range of other locations. See Chapter 2 of The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021: Statutory Guidance for Community and Town Councils

Theme D – Business processes

Schedule 4 of the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 also includes provisions relating to community council notices e.g. giving notice of meetings and their arrangements and the issuing of a short note within 7 days of council meetings. These should be read in conjunction with section 55 of the Local Government (Democracy) (Wales) Act 2013. The electronic publication of documents extends to include making available key information as soon as reasonably practicable, and within seven working days of the community council meeting taking place, and must include: the names of members who attended; apologies for absence; declarations of interest; any decisions taken and the outcome of any votes. This would not apply to any decisions taken in private, or where disclosure of the information would be contrary to any enactment.

In accordance with the Local Government and Elections (Wales) Act 2021, section 48, from 5 May 2022 people presiding over community and town council meetings that are open to the public must give members of the public in attendance reasonable opportunity to make representation about any business being discussed at the meeting, unless this is likely to prejudice the effective conduct of the meeting.

It can be helpful to put all information about how the council operates; how decisions are made; and the procedures which are followed to ensure that decision making is accountable, open and transparent into a single documented constitution. The primary components of a documented constitution will be the council's standing orders and financial regulations, along with the clerk's scheme of delegated powers, the code of conduct for members, the code of conduct for employees, member / officer protocol, terms of reference for committees etc.

The council understands how to manage its assets and facilities

Questions to consider

- How does the council deliver and review the services it provides to the community?
- How does the council record, manage and maintain its existing assets and facilities?
- Does the council have a process to identify potential transfer options / consider transfer requests of services and assets from its local authority?
- Is there adequate insurance cover in place to safeguard assets and facilities?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Evidence from surveys, engagement events, contributions from the public to council meetings
- Evidence in minutes from budget setting discussions and business planning meetings.
- Evidence of operating a charter or protocol with the local authority
- Minutes recording assessment of need for new asset or service
- Register of assets
- Maintenance programme
- Land registry documentation / title deeds
- Asset transfer policy
- Insurance documentation

Further information:

Internal controls should be in place to safeguard the assets and investments held by the council from loss or damage and to ensure their proper use within the community.

Internal controls should include:

- Maintaining an asset register;
- Regular inspection of fixed assets to ensure they exist, remain in good repair and are being used appropriately;
- Appropriate authorisation for the disposal or scrapping of fixed assets; and
- Maintaining secure boundaries of any land and buildings held by the council and holding all title deeds securely.

Having an asset transfer policy gives a positive message to the community about the council's stance in regard to safeguarding local facilities. A policy confirms the intention to take over the responsibility for the ownership, management and running of assets from the principal council.

Theme E – Resources and financial management

Community and town councils are entrusted with management of public funds and assets. All councils should have appropriate financial governance arrangements in place to ensure the security of these resources and to ensure that they achieve economy, efficiency and effectiveness in the use of those resources.

This theme considers the arrangements the council has put in place to manage its resources and covers both assets held and the council's finances. The questions here will help the council reflect on the overall approach to financial management, and will be best supported by information on this theme contained in the health check to provide confidence that the statutory and non-statutory procedures to support good financial management have been followed.

The council has suitable accounting and audit systems

Accounting Questions to consider

- What methods does the council employ to document its accounting systems and controls?
- How does the council satisfy itself these meet its needs?
- How does the council satisfy itself the accounting systems and controls are operating as intended?
- How does the council ensure that accounting records are secured and available to relevant officers?
- How does the council take responsibility for completing and approving the Annual Return / statement of accounts in a timely and complete manner?

Audit questions to consider

- How does the council appoint its internal auditor?
- How often does the council review its appointment of its auditor?
- How does the council ensure that it receives reports from both internal and external audits?

- What methods does the council employ to examine and act upon both internal and external audit reports to reflect on and to improve its financial management?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Schedule of accounting records maintained by the council
- Documented arrangements for transfer of documents on change of responsible financial officer
- Internal audit terms of reference and audit reports
- Council / committee meetings with the internal auditor, presentations by the internal auditor to the council
- Internal and external audit reports and recommendation tracking
- Standing agenda item at June and September / October meetings to confirm approval and publication of accounts

Further information

Community and town councils have a responsibility to ensure effective governance and management of the public money they have been entrusted with, and that this is used economically, efficiently and effectively. The financial rules, statutes and procedures protect the council and give it the tools to achieve its goals and make best use of public money. All councillors are accountable for the council's finances and should ensure the council has proper arrangements in place.

The law requires that councils submit their annual accounts to the Auditor General for Wales. For most councils the accounts are in the form of an annual return. The Auditor General makes arrangements for the external audit to be undertaken by auditors. The external audit is a check that accounting statements have been properly prepared and the council has complied with its statutory responsibilities in relation to financial management.

The annual return is the principal means by which the council is accountable to its electorate and councils must complete an annual return to confirm that everything is in order. Signed statements confirm responsibility for governance arrangements during the year. In particular they show that:

- the accounts have been properly prepared and approved;
- a system of internal control is in place – including the appointment of a competent and independent internal auditor – and the effectiveness of both the system and the appointment has been reviewed;

Theme E – Resources and financial management

- the council has taken reasonable steps to comply with the law;
- the council has assessed all possible risks to public money;
- the accounts have been publicised for general inspection so that electors' rights can be exercised;
- there are no potentially damaging or hidden issues such as an impending claim against the council;
- significant differences in the figures (between the current and the previous year) have been explained.

A smaller relevant body must, no later than 30 June immediately following the end of a financial year – (a) consider the accounting statements by the members meeting as a whole; (b) following that consideration, approve the accounting statements for submission to the auditor by a resolution of the body; (c) following approval, ensure that the accounting statements are signed and dated by the person presiding at the meeting at which that approval was given.

The council should ensure they are aware of the outcome of the statutory audit and any issues identified so that its arrangements can be improved or errors corrected for future years.

Some key legislation to be aware of includes:-

- The Local Government Act 1972 (section 151) requires a community or town council to appoint a responsible financial officer (RFO). It is the role of councillors to ensure that the RFO acts properly.
- The Accounts and Audit \(Wales\) Regulations 2014 (as amended) set out the council's responsibilities for financial management, internal controls and internal audit (Regulations 5, 6 and 7) as well as the required procedures and timetable for signing, approval and publication of accounts (Regulation 15).

Resources and training

Governance and Accountability for Local Councils in Wales – A practitioners guide \(2019 Edition\) provides detailed guidance on financial management and governance (Part 2), accounting practices (Part 3 for councils with income and expenditure below £2.5 million and Part 4 for councils with income and expenditure above £2.5 million), as well as checklists for annual internal audit review (Appendix 2) and for financial year end (Appendix 3). The guide also covers the external audit and electors' rights (part 5).

Financial Management

The budget is an essential tool for controlling the council's finances. It demonstrates that your council has sufficient income to carry out its activities and policies. The budget must be prepared in advance, as it is used to set the precept for the year. By checking spending against budget plans on a regular basis at council meetings, the council controls its finances and monitors progress towards what it wants to achieve.

The council must have a system of internal control where someone, (other than the responsible financial officer), oversees the arrangements for financial management and checks financial documents selected at random, including procedures for receiving money, making payments and recording financial transactions. This task would usually be undertaken by a councillor or councillors with a good grasp of financial documentation. The level of internal control should be appropriate to your council's expenditure and activity, councils providing a wider range of services will need more comprehensive checks and balances. The findings are reported to the council, and together with regular feedback from the responsible financial officer on the accounts, all councillors will be aware of the council's financial position. This ensures everything is open and above board and you have the information you need.

The council's spending plans may require a level of external borrowing, for example for capital projects. Borrowing by community and town councils is subject to government controls and Welsh Government's approval is required. The Welsh Government may also impose conditions in accordance with which the borrowing may be carried out. The Welsh Government publishes guidance on applying for borrowing approvals and an application form on its website.

Some key legislation to be aware of includes:-

- The Local Government Finance Act 1992 - sections 41, 50 and 51 set out how the council should calculate its budget and precept.

Resources

Governance and Accountability for Local Councils in Wales – A practitioners Guide \(2019 Edition\) sets out statutory requirements, proper practice and guidance on budget setting and monitoring at Chapter 6

Financial assistance

Financial assistance by a council occurs when a council agrees to provide grants and / or loans to other bodies.

Section 137 \(1\) of the Local Government Act 1972 permits community and town councils to spend on activities for which it has no other specific powers if the council considers that the expenditure is in the interests of, and will bring direct benefit to, the area or any part of it, all or some of its inhabitants, providing that the benefits are commensurate with the expenditure. Community and town councils are also permitted under section 137 (3) to incur expenditure for certain charitable and other purposes, The Welsh Government issues a letter to all community and town councils setting out the maximum expenditure that can be incurred under section 137 (1) and (3) for the relevant financial year. Note - Once a council resolves itself an eligible community council, section 137 of the Local Government Act 1972 no longer applies to the council. Unlike section 137 there is no financial limitation on what an eligible community council can spend if they are exercising the general power of competence.

The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 makes provision for eligible community and town councils to exercise a general power of competence, with the aim of bringing about more effective, capable and innovative local government. The general power will allow eligible councils to act in their communities' best interests, generate efficiencies and secure value for money outcomes. They will also be able to raise money by charging for discretionary services and to trade. See The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021: Statutory Guidance for Community and Town Councils \(Chapter 1\).

Theme F – Evaluating impact

A well-run council does not always equate to a council having a significant impact in the local community. This theme draws upon the outcome of the work generated from previous themes and is an opportunity for the council to assess whether it is delivering the desired benefits for its community. It will provide a natural self-review of whether the council is providing the service expected of it and whether it is doing all it could do.

Considering the questions in this theme will also help you to summarise the council's achievements and determine future council priorities and activities to inform the council's annual report.

The council assesses the benefit to the community of the work it does, to inform future activities and services

Questions to consider

- How do you know that what you have achieved for the community has been beneficial and made a difference?
- What evidence do you use to understand the impact of the council's work?
- Have you considered future changes to the community or legislation (e.g. general power of competence) to explore opportunities for new ways to help your community?

Examples of evidence to review to inform assessment

- Previous year's annual report (if available)
- Community engagement activity
- Reflection by members, individually and jointly
- Complaints and compliments

Further information

The questions here will give you, as councillors, the opportunity to collectively consider what the council is achieving for the community. You may already have established means of evaluating the impact of the council's work, or this may be something you decide needs to be worked on. This will help you in preparing the council's annual report as required by the Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021 \(section 52\). The reports will set out the council's priorities, activities and achievements during the year. See also Chapter 4 of The Local Government and Elections \(Wales\) Act 2021: Statutory Guidance for Community and Town Councils

Using evidence to understand what you have achieved for the community, and what could be achieved in future, is vital in making the right decisions going forward. A good understanding of what you are delivering, the significance to the community, effectiveness and value for money will give you the information you need to make good decisions for the community going forward. Conversely, not taking the opportunity to reflect on whether you are delivering what the people in your community need can lead to investment of time and resources in things that may have little impact.

You can use various methods to gather evidence of the benefit your council is having for the community – councillor surgeries, community surveys, community engagement sessions and social media are just some ideas.
